BOOB ERROR LOSES GAME FOR VISITORS

Pitcher Tosses Ball to Bench and Scheibelhut Comes in From First—Raab Features With Hitting.

A "boob" error on the part of R. Moffett, pitcher for the South Bend Cardinals, in the ninth won for Mishawaka Sunday afternoon at the north side ball park. The mistake is one that probably was never before made on these diamonds. It happened in the ninth when the two teams had three runs each and Mishawaka was in for the last half. Porter struck out and things looked as if the game might last over several more innings. Scheibelhut came up and put a long single into center. Weber was next up but never had a swing at the ball because the home side failed to make a hit with Moffett. He handed it to the umpire, who refused it and told him to "play ball." He turned, gave it the once over and quietly tossed it to the bench. Just at this moment Scheibelhut started on a lunge to second, to third and crossed the rubber with the winning run. Not a player attempted to get the ball and Moffett stood as if stunned, turning and watching the runner as he sped from base to base. Scheibelhut went to the bench, sat down, then suddenly the pitcher realized the fatal mistake he had made and slowly moved from the diamonds. The players followed. Not an argument was heard.

Things looked rather dark for Mishawaka until the eighth inning, when Raab slammed a two-bagger into far left, bringing in Philion from second and moving Bragg to third, tying the game. The inning went out with two men holding bases.

The Cardinals failed to come across in the ninth and Mishawaka was again up. Mishawaka took her first run in the third when Weber pounded out a fence buster into left field, bringing in Scheibelhut, who had been hit by the pitcher.

The Cardinals opened the game in fine form, taking two runs right off the bat. Robinson, the first man up, struck out, Moffett singled to center and Hoadley came up with a long three-bagger into far center, scoring Moffett. Doetch singled, bringing in Hoadley from third, and the inning closed when Barth and Bauerlein whiffed.

Raah showed great form with the stick, getting four hits out of four times up. He also showed up well behind the bat, twice catching runners at second.

Over 500 fans attended the game and Manager Squibbs stated Sunday afternoon that he was well satisfied with the way Mishawaka fans were responding to the call of the diamond this season.

Next Sunday afternoon the Mishawaka team will play the Bremen Greenstockins at the north side ball park. The Greenstockins are being aided as a strong team and a good game is expected.

WILL ASK COUNCIL FOR APPROPRIATION

Receive Bid for General Intersections Improvements Contract—Let Grove St. Sidewalk Improvement.

Bids for the new comfort station for Battell park were received Monday morning at a meeting of the board of public works. The bidders were Charles Jordan Co. and Thomas H. Hickey & Co., both of South Bend. Jordan's bid was the lowest, at $1,820; Hickey's bid was $1,850. The contract was not let as it was decided by the board on advisement of City Controller Walter Michaels to leave the matter to the common council for an appropriation of money.

Lewis E. Zeiger was the only bid received Monday morning for the alley and sidewalk improvements for the summer. It was decided recently at a meeting to let the contracts for sidewalks and street intersection improvements to one man, under a general bid. In this way saving considerable money which was before expended on advertising and other expenses necessarily incurred in letting the work out under individual contracts. The bid was held over for another week.

A hearing on the sidewalk improvements on Church st., between Front and Third sts., was held Monday morning. Several remonstrators were present and Frank Eberhart made a short talk on the matter. The hearing was held over until next week. It is the desire of the board to have the brick sidewalks removed and replaced with substantial cement walks.

Street Commissioner Charles W. Doolittle presented a communication to the board which he asked that the board should be notified to construct cement walks at their crossings on both sides of N. Main st. The matter was referred to the city engineer. A hearing was held on the Calhoun st. sewer water and gas connections preparatory to the pavement improvement which will be placed on this street.

A contract for the construction of a cement sidewalk on the north side of Grove st., between Forest and Clay was let Monday morning to Fred Corporan. His total bid was $117.

A resolution was passed authorizing a hearing on the Lawrence st. lateral sewer between Margaret and Ann, which was petitioned for some time ago. The hearing will be held May 25.

The board took up the discussion again Monday morning in regards to the park land contract of the east and west end park. Unofficial reports were heard from City Attorney Jernegan.

Hellens was assessed $10 and costs, amounting to $21, which he paid.

William Blasher was fined $1 and costs Monday morning in the city court for pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication. Blasher made some effort to secure the money.
